The Manila Police, <sup>early this morning (Friday) (hours after the rioting)</sup> raided the Philippine College of Commerce with a search warrant from Judge Francisco and arrested 38 persons including students, professors and paid vandals with machine pistols, revolvers, a shotgun and other weapons of assault. And the reaction of the public seems to be reacting favorably.

Finished the problem of the Muslims. Salpada Pendatun says he will be responsible for Ex. Gov. Udteg, Mataram, the leader of the Muslim Propaganda Movement, who on Feb. 6, 1970 issued another manifesto against the government adopting the Mao-Tse Tung and Kabataan Kautangan line. Salpada Pendatun insists there is no training ground for insurgents and that Udteg will consult him before he does anything serious. I have my doubts about his capability to hold Udteg but I am hoping for the best. I have asked him to bring Udteg's son.

Also settled the <sup>some</sup> differences between Cong. Anni and Mayor Parley Ablesaker of Job. It seems that Anni and Gov. Salpala bring in policemen of the other towns fully armed into Job, causing tension. A barrio captain was killed by the policemen recently. So I am having the arms of the Job policemen who shot him and from now on no more guns from outside Job to be allowed.

Delivered a speech on Liberal Democracy before Rotary International 300 at the Hilton tonight.
