So the Kintari and the LCM fleet could be a versatile and self-contained sea-lift system for a wide variety of cargoes.

I attach the copies of the description of the vessels.

We should be able to hold an impressive team over of these vessels.

The morning was dedicated to interviews by Panwag and U.S. World and News Report (Bud) Marick.

And the afternoon to the study of the funding of projects especially the development of extractive mining.

Tonight Inelda attended the Odan wedding. I do not attend weddings anymore.

There is a mounting pressure for the recognition of Bangla Desh. But I have insisted that the Asian nations act as one on this question.
